ABOUT THE TMI PROJECT

TMI Project is a non-profit organization that offers memoir and monologue writing workshops that culminate in storytelling performances or published material. Through the ancient art of storytelling, participants divulge the parts of their stories that they usually leave out — the parts they are usually too ashamed or embarrassed to share — the parts others most want to hear, fostering greater understanding and compassion among people. Participants turn their pasts into testimonials of survival, dispelling old shame and inspiring others. Some stories might elicit strong feelings. There will be counselors available if someone needs to talk.
