Planning Seminar Series

The Ulster County Transportation Council is sponsoring a free seminar on Wednesday, October 14th from 7:00 to 9:30 PM in the College Lounge at SUNY Ulster in Stone Ridge. Please join us for a lively and informative discussion.

Transportation and Land Development Review

This presentation will cover the relationship between land use planning and traffic analysis, including an overview of big picture transportation trends and policies and examples of site specific projects to illustrate everyday transportation challenges faced by communities and the information needed to enable effective decision making. The session will explain the goals and benefits of Complete Streets, the components of a traffic impact study, site access and safety issues, access management, and the tools to mitigate traffic impacts and how to overcome right-of-way constraints. Altogether, this session will help Planning and Zoning Board members understand many of the factors to consider during planning and project development to improve quality of life through transportation decisions in our communities.

Presenters / Bios:

Mark A. Sargent, P.E.

Mark is an Associate at Creighton Manning with over 30 years of experience planning and managing a range of surface transportation projects and Complete Streets projects, from planning and engineering studies through preliminary and final design. Mark has completed hundreds of traffic studies and scores of municipal and area-wide transportation plans and projects. Mark is also a past president of the NY Upstate Section of the Institute of Transportation Engineers.

Stephan W. Godlewski, PE - "Steve"

Steve is a Project Manager at Creighton Manning responsible for the design of highway and bridge rehabilitation and reconstruction projects. He has over 12 years of diverse experience including highway and bridge design, bridge inspection, public participation, preparing design approval documents, right-of-way acquisition, permitting and coordinating with regulatory agencies. Steve is Chair of the Complete Streets Advisory Board in the City of Saratoga Springs, New York. In this capacity, he uses his transportation engineering expertise to review and comment on land use proposals and advise the City on land use decisions that are consistent with the policy.
