

Protect Your Family from Lead Poisoning

"Get the Lead Out"

The Centers for Disease Control estimates that a quarter of a million children have blood lead levels high enough to cause significant health damage. Major sources of exposure include lead-based paint, lead-contaminated dust, found in and around older homes and buildings built before 1978, and toys manufactured with paints and materials containing lead.

Lead Poisoning is Preventable. Protect your Family by:

- Keeping the area where your children play as dust free and clean as possible;
- Reporting chipped or cracked paint to your landlord, especially if you live in a home built before 1978;
- Making sure your children don't chew on painted surfaces, such as toys or window sills;
- Getting a FREE home lead inspection from the Ulster County Department of Health;
- Learning about EPA's new lead-safe renovation rule;
- Asking your doctor or your Health Department to test your child for lead, and
- Avoiding toys that contain lead.

Home and Building Owners and Contractors

As of April 22, 2010, anyone who conducts renovations, repairs, or painting in pre-1978 or child-occupied facilities must get certified. In addition to personal certification, there is also the requirement of getting your firm registered with EPA in order to ensure that you are not at risk to receive huge daily fines!

The new EPA RRP requirements apply to you if your project disturbs:

- 6 square feet of interior lead paint surface AND/OR
- 20 square feet of exterior lead paint surface

Your Ulster County Department of Health (UCDOH) is offering FREE trainings for building owners, home owners and contractors who wish to become certified in safe lead removal practices. We even have a limited amount of FREE cleaning and renovation supplies to qualified Ulster County owners.
